Subject: Microsoft Settlement

I am a personal and business customer of Microsoft as well as several other software companies. I would urge the government to reach a prompt settlement with Microsoft and accept the proposed consent decree. Prolonged litigation is not in the best interest of software consumers the public or the government. The original litigation and district court decision did little to calm the financial markets either. The government should be encouraging free enterprise and open competition. The resources expended on further Microsoft litigation would be much better spent on debacles like Enron. Thank you for your consideration of my opinion.
